IRIS HAS COME INTO ITS OWN AT LAST.

This familiar and well-beloved flower of spring is decidedly refreshing with the purity of its beauty and its haunting fragrance, they bid fair to outrival the aristocratic Orchid in the wide range of colors, which includes yellows, blues, reds and whites. The winsome modest beauty of some of the varieties form a striking contrast to their more glorious sisters arrayed in a sheen of iridescent splendor. They are perfectly hardy and require only ordinary cultivation. They succeed in various kinds of soils and conditions.

German Iris

Price: 15c each; $1.50 per dozen. (By mail 10c extra.)

Mme. Chereau—White frilled with shaded lilac. Fragrant. Very beautiful; free blooming variety.

Celeste—Large, open flower of pure celestial blue, changing to porcelain blue as it ages.

Trumpet Narcissus

Choice Narcissus or Daffodils

These are among the most charming of our spring flowers, that all conditions seem to suit, although they seem to have a preference for good deep soil and semi-shaded positions. Every vacant corner in the garden, grass, or among the trees could not be used to a better advantage than by filling with Narcissus, and every border should have a number of clumps interspersed through it. They will furnish cut flowers in abundance and readily establish themselves permanently.
